1951 DAHLIA NOTES

The drought this year was probably the worst in our experience in its effect on the root crop. A good rain in late July or early August would have made a good root crop, but such a rain did not come.

Dahlias in our cut flower field started blooming in June. By means of many complete overhead irrigations we kept them in high quality bloom through the drought 'till frost in September.

For four successive weeks we maintained high class Dahlia exhibitions, first at Cincinnati, and at three state fairs; Columbus, Ohio, Indianapolis, Indiana and Louisville, Kentucky. Fresh flowers were provided each day.

During the season we cut approximately 50,000 Dahlia blooms. In five fields comprising 12 acres we grew approximately 60,000 Dahlia plants.

DIRECTIONS FOR GROWING AND CULTIVATION OF THE DAHLIA

TIME—The proper time to plant dahlias for best results is May 15th. For exhibition, we advise June 1st to 10th in the Ohio Valley. You have until July 1st for good results.

PREPARING SOIL AND PLANTING. Dahlias are not fussy about soil, providing it is deeply cultivated, well drained and has plenty of humus. They also need full sun to produce good flowers. Drive 5 ft. stakes 3 ft. apart. At each stake mix in one handful of bone meal or any well recommended fertilizer. Place root in a horizontal position 4 to 6 inches deep. You may now fill in level over root or leave a slight depression which may be filled in as the dahlia plant grows.

PLANTING OF GREEN PLANTS. Soak in shallow water for a few minutes in order to freshen plant after its journey through the mail. Plant the roots of the plant about four inches deep leaving a slight depression to be filled in as plant grows. If there is hot sun the day you plant, it would be advisable to cover with baskets of some kind. Water well.

CULTIVATION—WATERING. Keep the soil well cultivated throughout the season. After August 15th do not cultivate deeply or too close to the plant, as the feeder roots are coming to the surface. Unless weather is very dry, dahlias will need little watering until buds appear. From then on, one heavy soaking a week unless there is plenty of rain.

INSECTS. Control of insects is important. DDT has helped greatly in overcoming these pests. Dust once a week in the evening when air is still with 2% to 5% DDT. We have found that DDT takes care of the sucking and chewing insects that are so harmful to the Dahlia. If red spider shows up, we suggest washing the underside leaves of the plant with a strong spray of cold water. Parathion is the answer to control of red spider, but as yet it is not in general use.

DISBUDDING. To get the best flowers on long stems, it is advisable to disbud. You can pinch out the tops of dahlia plants after the third set of leaves appear, or you can wait for the crown bud to appear. Pinch two of the smaller buds from this crown bud. Likewise pinch side laterals two joints from the top bud. If the former method of pinching center of plant is used, you may disbud each of the four laterals which will appear. Leaving top main center bud on each lateral, pinching all others two joints down.

DIGGING AND STORING OF ROOTS

After killing frost, the tops need not be cut off. Leave roots in the ground as long as there is no danger of freezing. Look out for November cold waves.

After digging, store immediately without special drying. Pack in peat moss, shaving, sawdust, sand or vermiculite etc. If you have a method of storing that works, stick to it.

Examine roots two or three times during the winter and if necessary to prevent shrivelling, add moisture. In the spring sprout roots if necessary, by planting in soil in a warm place. Separate, one sprout to a division, by splitting the stem and crown according to the sprouts.
